

Federal Reserve cuts interest rate by 50 bps

The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) has decided to lower the target range for the federal funds rate by 1/2 percentage point, to 1 to 1-1.25%. According to the FOMC, the fundamentals of the U.S. economy remain strong. However, the coronavirus poses evolving risks to economic activity. In light of these risks and in support of achieving its maximum employment and price stability goals, FOMC has lowered the interest rate by 50 bps.

The Committee is closely monitoring developments and their implications for the economic outlook and will use its tools and act as appropriate to support the economy.
