ABOUT EVENT

The urban population in India is more than 30 percent. With the country's urbanization rate currently being 2.4 per year, it is estimated that around 60 crore people will be living in towns and cities by 2030. Given the rapid urbanisation in the country, developing sustainable urban conglomerations is a key priority for India's growth and Development. The Jawaharlal Nehru National Urban Renewal Mission (JNNURM), Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT), Smart Cities Mission are all evidence of the Government's active engagement toward economic and social development of cities in India.

The key drivers for creating self-sustainable cities are

- Good health and wellbeing. (Green Buildings with urban forests)
- Clean water and sanitation,
- Affordable, clean and green energy. (Zero emission fuel and electric vehicles)
- Industry Innovation and infrastructure. (SMART integrated Cities & Multimodal Transit System)

Thus, to showcase and discuss various aspects of the latest developments in shaping the sustainable cities in urban India and also to learn about the opportunities for the growth of the industry via national and international collaborations; against this dynamic background, PHD Chamber of Commerce & Industry is organising a webinar 'Creating Self Sustaining Townships', on June 23rd, 2021, 03:00 – 06:00 P.M.

I feel honoured in inviting you to join the webinar or nominate senior officials from your organization to attend. Your presence and inputs will greatly enrich the deliberations.

I sincerely hope that you will kindly accept our invitation and send us your positive confirmation at the earliest.

Best regards,

Dr Ranjeet Mehta

Deputy Secretary General
