ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Urban Mobility covers a larger perspective of transport infrastructure as a catalyst of urban growth. As the rate of urbanisation is increasing and it is estimated that by 2050 it should reach 50%.

One of the key challenges and opportunities facing the mobility sector is rapid urbanization, especially in developing economies such as India. As more and more people move into the urban areas due to push and pull factors, there is rampant overcrowding of cities and town and a resulting extension of the suburbia into a vast territory. As a result, we must provide innovative mobility solutions to the ever-expanding urban population; solutions that are smart, efficient, cost-effective and scalable.

In recent years, India has witnessed the integration of technology and urban innovation in urban mobility. However, present levels of urban mobility are also generating challenges like congestion, environmental pollution and traffic fatalities.

Against this backdrop and to deliberate on this significant topic, PHDCCI Housing and urban Development Committee under its PHDCCI Unique Urban Identity Drive is organising a Conference on “SUSTAINABLE URBAN MOBILITY: KEY FOR FUTURE CITIES” on Thursday 18th January 2024, 10 am at PHD House, New Delhi.
