PARLIAMENT'S PRIVILEGED JET-SETTII

The National Council, which was recently exposed for spending over N$1-m for a 20-day overseas mission of four officials, has now issued an 'Open National Bidding' tender for travel management services for two years - without advertising it in local newspapers as required by the Public Procurement Act.

Tender NCS/ONB/11-01/23/24, which closes on 30-Apr-24, covers air tickets, accommodation, car rent-als, travel insurance and conference facilities for 24 months (details were published in Tender Bulletin 1533).

According to the Public Procurement Act 15 of 2015 'Open Advertised Bid-

National Council and National Assembly officials are fond of luxury travels abroad and at home - with little accountability for their lavish spending from the public purse

ding' is supposed to be the preferred procurement method but hardly any state entities bother to advertise their tenders in local newspapers with a wide circulation, as required by the Act.

Despite arguing that the ONB procurement method was not feasible when submitting their 2023/24 annual procurement plan, the NC Procurement Management Unit now finds it expedient to use this method after all.

This ONB tender follows an earlier 'Restricted Bidding' tender NCS/RB/11-

01/2022/2023 for the provision of international and domestic travel, accommodation and car hire for a twelve-month period, which had closed on 25-Jan-23. This quotation was posted on GRN e-Procurement website in December 2022 with no link to the RFQ document and stating 31-Mar-23 as "end date". The bid document only became visible under the NC procurement tab on 17-Jan-23 - with barely a week's notice.

This twelve-month contract should have come to an end months ago, but the new ONB tender only closes on 30-Apr-24 - and then still has to be evaluated and awarded.

Commission of the Status of Women.

Kauma then traveled with Kavihura and Mwira to Geneva for the Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU) meeting from 21- to 28-Mar-24.

Mwira even applied for funding for a clothing allowance to purchase winter clothes. Premium economy class with window seats in the first rows of the aircraft were requested.

The subsistence travel allowance that was approved is reportedly N$325,000 for Kauma, N$160,000 for Kavihura, N$70,000 for Shali and N$46,000 for Mwira. The tickets cost N$200,000 for Kauma, N$80,000 for Kavihura and N$60,000 for Shali and Mwira.

The finance department of the National Council assured the travelers that the funds were available and would be reserved for March.

According to National Council secretary, Tousy Namiseb, other members of the National Council and National Assembly, each with their own support staff, are also attending the IPU meeting.

Namiseb said such events are essential for MPs and serve as training ground. Cross-cultural exchanges help parliamentarians with their oversight duties and sharpen their skills. He said it was a matter of "job distribution" to include several staff members per trip. In order to ensure that one member of parliament was not "overburdened", they might be accompanied by an additional member of staff, panied by an additional member of start, such as a PA, to assist with tasks such as logistics. There was also a need for people who can do research for these PMs, Namiseb reasoned.

There has been a growing concern about frequent and seemingly excessive travels undertaken by National Council officials. Insiders claim that some top managers insist on being included in travel plans even when the trip only requires a personal assistant or clerk

Despite the availability of virtual communication platforms, officials reportedly insist on in-person traveling. This has raised red flags about the necessity and cost effectiveness of physical travel in many instances (Namibian Sun 16-Feb-24; Die Republikein 15-Feb-24)

National Council allocates N$2-m for traveling during 2023/24 FY

For the 2023/24 financial year, the National Council was allocated a total budget of approximately N$167.5-m.

The first item on the annual pro-curement plan for the 2023/24 FY submitted by the National Council on 19-Dec-22 is for the provision of air tickets for domestic and foreign travels "for benchmarking and official engagements for the chairperson, vice chairperson, secretary, deputy secretary, members of parliament and staff members" over twelve 12 months.

The estimated value was N$2-m (revised from N$2.5-m) and the "default method" of ONB procurement was stated "impractical". Since there is a limited number of travel agencies operating in the industry, the Restricted Bidding procurement method would be

In addition to the N$2-m allocated for domestic and foreign travels the National Council Procurement Plan also provides for many workshops, retreats, teambuilding exercises, etc. in Namibia for National Council staff members

No annual Procurement Plan for the National Assembly

On the GRN eProcurement portal there is a Procurement Plan for the National Council for 2024/25 dated 08-Dec-23 (with N$3-m budgeted for domestic and foreign travels), but there is no procurement plan at all for the National Assembly for the 2023/24 or 2024/25 financial years.

The National Council and the National Assembly (Parliament) share the same website but have separate tabs for their procurement: https://www.parliament.na/category/procurement-of-council/https://www.parliament.na/procurement-of-assembly-2/.

Neither house of Parliament has ever posted any of their procurement information on the GRN eProcurement portal, which became operational in October 2022

Retreats and team building exercises a plenty during 2023: From Popa Falls to Swakopmund

No bid opening information could be found on the NC website.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY ALSO WANTS TO TRAVEL FOR THREE YEARS

Six of eleven tenderers were responsive, with two companies awarded contracts at prices higher than those stated in the award notice, while three other contenders lost out for not submitting the lowest responsive offers

The National Assembly also issued a tender - with a strange TB reference (possibly RB for Restricted Bidding) - NCS-TB/RFQ/03-66/23/24 closing 31-Jan-24 - for the provision of travel services (flight tickets, travel insurance, accommodation and conference venues) to the National Assembly for a period of 36 months.

The NA allocated the same reference number to a tender for transcription and printing services closing on the same date.

Contrary to the National Council - which has recently issued an ONB tender for traveling services for 24 months - the National Assembly chose to issue a Request for Quotation tender for a 36-month period.

According to the bid opening record posted on the National Assembly website, eleven offers were received. The award notice dated 27-Feb-24 lists three successful bidders with their price offers:

NAM HEADING FOR THE BIG OIL LEAGUE

Haitham Al Ghais, secretary general of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), will deliver an address at the Namibian International Energy Conference (NIEC) in Windhoek this April, sharing insight into global oil

He will be joined by a delegation from the organization, who will lead technical discussions around the outlook for oil and the potential role Namibia plays in the global market.

Namibia is on track to produce its first oil from offshore discoveries by 2030 and the country is getting ready to take on a more prominent role in global supply chains.

Offshore discoveries and onshore exploration efforts are expected to transform the domestic economy while establishing new export chains for both regional and international consumers.

During NIEC 2024, the OPEC delegation will present the organization's World Oil Outlook, sharing insight into ongoing developments, future expectations, and efforts to create market stability.

With the development of offshore oil and gas discoveries, Namibia is poised to become a major player globally. Discoveries made by energy majors Discoveries indue by energy majors TotalEnergies, Shell, and QatarEnergy in 2022 and 2023 opened the Orange Basin, with recent drilling success further highlighting the potential for billion-barrel deposits in Namibia.

Multinational energy corporation, Galp, made two discoveries at the Mopane-1X well in 2024 while TotalEnergies announced its second

OPEC secretary-general to address Namibia International Energy Conference in April, alongside billion-barrel oil discoveries offshore, as the Kudu gas and green hydrogen initiatives forge ahead

Orange Basin find, with hydrocarbon intervals revealed at the Mangetti-1X well this year.

Since 2022, Shell made discoveries at the Jonker-1; La Rona; and Graff-1 wells – expected to hold as much as 1.7 billion barrels in total – while drilling at the Lesedi-1 well in 2023 showed the presence of hydrocarbons.

Exploration in both offshore and on-shore basins is set to yield positive re-sults, further underscoring the country's position as a frontier contender.

Offshore, Galp has proceeded to spud the Mopane-2x well while energy major Chevron expects to soud its first well in PEL 90 in 2024. Exploration and production companies are also making strides onshore.

Independent oil and gas company ReconAfrica plans to start drilling in the Kavango Basin this year. Correspondingly, exploration company 88 Energy plans to kickstart exploration in Namibia's PEL 83 having recently acquired a 45% non-operated interest in the asset.

Taking place April 23-25 in Windhoek, the sixth edition of NIEC 2024 will connect foreign investors to Namibian energy projects. With the participation of project operators, investors and Namibian energy leaders, the event will provide an update on ongoing developments, regulatory reform, and upcoming opportunities.

Energy Week
Namibia's Minister of Mines and Energy, Tom Alweendo, will speak at the 2024 edition of the African Energy Week (AEW) - Invest in African Energy conference – from 4 to 8 November in TotalEnergies discovered the company's second oil and gas find at the Mangetti-1X well in January 2024, building on its Venus-1 find in 2022 where over two billion barrels are estimated to be in place.

Appraisal work has already kicked off for Mangetti-1X while the company has dedicated 30% of its exploration and appraisal budget to the country.

Two discoveries were also made by Portuguese oil and gas company Galp at the Mopane-1X well in PEL 83. Galp's contracted rig will proceed to drill the Mopane-2X well.

Meanwhile, Shell continues to drill at PEL 39, where discoveries were made at the Graff-1; Jonker-1X – estimated to hold 300 million barrels; the Lesedi-1X well; and the La Rona well.

These finds draw attention to the size and scope of untapped oil and gas in Namibia, making a strong case for other E&P companies interested in the basin

ENERGY UPDATE

Onshore, ReconAfrica plans to start a drilling program in the Kavango Basin in 2024 after the company secured approval for the second renewal exploration period on PEL 73 – running from 2024-2026 – and plans to drill a minimum of one exploration or stratigraphic well

Meanwhile, oil and gas company 88 Energy signed a farm-in deal with private exploration firm Monitor Exploration in November 2023 for a 45% non-operated working interest in PEL 93. With prospective resources of 22 trillion cubic feet of gas in PEL 73 alone.

Kudu gas project

In addition to exploratory success, Namibia's efforts to start producing gas from the Kudu Conventional Gas Development in the Orange Basin by 2026 are beginning to show progress with an FID expected this year.

A joint development plan for the asset was signed in November 2023 between TotalEnergies, Shell and the government, with the project currently in the Front-End Engineering and Design phase.

Gas from the project will be trans-ported to an 885MW combined cycle gas turbine and will be used for domestic power generation, offering a strategic opportunity for the southern African region to enhance energy security.

Green hydrogen

Notwithstanding oil and gas achievements, Namibia's continues to make progress to establish itself as a global green hydrogen hub. Three green hydrogen pilot projects – the Hyrail Dual-Fuel Locomotive, Daures Green Hydrogen Project and Cleanergy Green Hydrogen Service Station – will begin operations in 2024.

Additionally, Namibia's dedicated green hydrogen blended finance vehicle SDG Namibia One Fund – acquired a 24% stake in the country's largest green hydrogen development – the $10 billion Tsau-Khaeb Green Hydrogen project earlier this year.

With a capacity of 7 GW of renewable energy and 3 GW of electrolyzer, the project will produce two million tons of green hydrogen per year.

"Namibia continues to make strides towards unlocking the full potential of its energy sector. Attractive regulation, long-term development plans and an integration approach to developing resources further consolidates the country's position as a regional hub.

"As interest continues to turn to-wards the country's oil, gas and green energy opportunities, AEW 2024 will connect capital to projects and partners with authorities," stated NJ Ayuk, Executive Chairman of the African

Energy Chamber. (By APO Group on behalf of African Energy Chamber)

THE FOLLY OF AUGUST 26'S NS200-M SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION WINDFALL

28 March 2024 The Namibian government's decision to award its fast-tracked schools construction tenders to the defence ministry's August 26 Construction Company without competitive bidding last year has come back to bite it, after subcontractors of a builder to whom the military entity outsourced one of its projects stopped work because they had not been paid.
The Construction Industries Federation had warned last year that August 26 Construction did not have the capacity to undertake the construction of classrooms and ablution facilities at schools, after it had become known that private builders had been sidelined in favour of the defence ministry's company.

August 26 Construction outsourced the construction of Havana Primary School in Katutura - for which it was awarded one of the schools upgrad-ing tenders - to Penatu Trading to execute the contract on its behalf. Subcontractors appointed by Penatu, which is owned by Frans Munkhata Kamenye, are now complaining about non-payment for work done and a lack of building materials, bringing work to to a standstill.

The four subcontractors who were appointed by Penatu Trading in December last year are Wellma_CC, Shinana Trading, Papa Issy Trading and Onanghwe Construction, who are complaining about discrepancies between the value of their work and what they are being paid.

According to the aggrieved subcontractors they had a verbal agreement that they would each build a classroom block at the school for approximately N$70,000. Penatu's site manager, Leonard Banda, told them that nobody would get paid more than N$100,000. But they were forced to stop work when they ran out of building materials in January. Despite returning to the site during February there were no materials to finish the classrooms.

"We need August 26 and the education ministry to tell us the exact amount paid to Penatu for the construction of this school," they demanded. Site manager Banda felt it would be a breach of protocol if he spoke to the media.

August 26 managing director, Martha Endjala, said she would be happy to hear from the subcontractors directly. The defence force's company had told subcontracted workers at the site that those who feel they were not being treated fairly should reach out to the August 26 office to present their grievances rather than complaining on social media

Penatu Trading's Kamenye denied allegations of exploitation, claiming that the four subcontractors were being paid After the Namibian defence ministry's August 26 Construction was awarded a multi-million contract to build classrooms at government schools without public tender last year, it outsourced its the Havana Primary School to Penatu Trading, whose subcontractors have now stopped work in line with agreed fees. He said he had brought the four companies on board at the request of Moses //Garoeb constituency councilor, Stefanus Ndengu, who insisted that locals be involved in the project.

BAD NEWS BREAKING ON TOXIC TENDERS

"We subcontracted them as brick layers and gave them the necessary equipment for digging the trenches and mixing the concrete," he claimed. As far as the depleted building materials were concerned by concerned the concerned. als were concerned, his comment was: "they should just wait."

The four subcontractors said their appeals for redress made to Ndengu since January had fallen on deaf ears (Namibian Sun 19-Mar-24)

Carte Blanche to the NDF's business empire

The contract for construction at Havana Primary School must be one of those handed to August 26 Construction by the Ministry of Education, Arts & Culture without any competitive bidding.

The late president Hage Geingob instructed the education ministry last year to appoint August 26 Construction for the upgrading of government schools and accelerated construction of classrooms – at the expense of private building firms, while August 26's audit reports have never been made public.

As reported in Tender Bulletin 1480, the Public Procurement Act does provide for the allocation of tenders through 'public entity procurement' amongst government institutions.

The Ministry of Education, Arts & Culture's executive director, Sunet Steenkamp, had earlier confirmed that the ministry was in discussion with August 26 Construction to partner in the school upgrades because it was a state entity. But the secretive August 26 group of companies are not listed as a public entities in addenda to the Public Procurement Act.

August 26 Construction is a sub-sidiary of August 26 Holding Company (Pty) Ltd, wholly owned by the Ministry of Defence & Veterans Affairs on behalf of the Namibian government and incorporated under the Companies Act.

Private builders lose out to August 26

The Construction Industries Federation of Namibia lashed out at the award of government tenders for building schools to August 26 Construction at the expense of the private sector in August last year.

The N$255-m tender for the building classrooms and ablution facilities in several regions of Namibia excluded the private sector from participating.

"The question is, why August 26, as a company wholly owned by our Government, under the auspices of the Namibian Ministry of Defence & Veteran Affairs to build the infrastructure used by Namibia's defence force, is contracted outside of what should be its ordinary mandate"

According to the CIF, August 26 does not have sufficient capacity as, according to CIF records, "August 26 has an annual turnover of less than N$5 million"

It can be anticipated that August 26 will subcontract most of the work where, in principle, no contractor should subcontract more than 50% of the works.
The CIF questioned whether there was a public tender at all.

"If not, why has the Ministry of Education, Arts and Culture chosen not to advertise this singular project", apparently valued at N$225-m.

We are also concerned that if there we are also concerned that it there was not a public tender, whether and why the Ministry of Education, Arts & Culture had received an exemption, and on what grounds."

It was also important, according to the CIF, to know whether any architects, engineers and quantity surveyors had been engaged, as well as what the design of the respective classrooms and ablution facilities is, "as the anticipated completion within three months seems unrealistic.

The fundamental issue is that apparently contractors in the private sector were not able to bid and that they had to compete with August 26. Principally, Government ought to not operate in the sphere where the private sector can do the work.

It was also understood that "they would involve personnel from the Ministry of Defence & Veteran Affairs, who are on the payroll of the said ministry. This would lead to unfair competition (CIF Facebook page, 20-Aug-23).

The projects involve classrooms and ablutions in eight regions valued at N$189.9-m:

- 13 classroom and two ablution blocks for N$7-m in //Kharas;
- * 24 classrooms and two ablution blocks for
- N$10.3-m in Hardap; 46 classrooms and nine ablution blocks for N$23.1-m in Ohangwena;
- 41 classrooms and six ablution blocks for N$21.8-m in Kavnago East;
- 84 classrooms and nine ablution blocks for N$40.8-m in Khomas:
- 51 classrooms and nine ablution blocks for N$33.7-m in Erongo;
- * 58 classrooms and twelve ablution blocks for N$29.6-m in Oshana;
- * 58 classrooms and three ablution blocks for N$23.6-m in Oshikoto (*The Namibian, 18-*Sep-23; Bulletin 1510))

August 26 Construction defended

Countering the CIF's contention that the defence force company's appointment could potentially lead to non-completion and poor workmanship, August 26 Construction's MD, Martha Endjala said in September last year that the company had successfully completed 500 classrooms in a record time of five months and within budget without providing evidence.

"How can one accomplish this under a cost of N$5 million, using soldiers with no construction skills? August 26 Construction is a fully sustainable company honouring its own liabilities and paying its expenses from the income generated through its own operations," she told The Namibian newspaper.

August 26 Holdings chairperson Fillemon Shafashike, told the newspaper that all the CIF's allegations were "just lies. How can a company like August 26 not have the capacity to complete this work?

This is August 26 we are talking about, with multiple subsidiaries, and therefore our construction turnover can also not be N$5 million annually.

"Why should we not be given the work? We are a Namibian company employing Namibians. But utilising staff of the ministry of defence I do not even want to comment on".

Education minister Anna Nghipon-doka had said earlier in 2023 that over 4,000 classrooms were needed across the country.

The ministry had secured N$255-to construct 510 classrooms and 70 ablution blocks through August 26 Construction within a period of three months (The Namibian 18-Sep-23; Bulletin 1510).
