20 SEPTEMBER 2024

With the latest award of the contract to build the Rosh Pinah solar farm, Chinese contractors are now implementing four of Namibia's biggest power projects worth N$5.5-b currently underway out of six totaling N$7.2-b (over 76% by value), some of which are financed through at least N$4.3-b in foreign loans (not grants). And this excludes N$2.44-b NamPower borrowed from the World Bank in May for further expansions to the national electricity grid.

The latest project is the N$1.6-b 100MW Rosh Pinah Solar PV power plant awarded to a joint venture between China Jiangxi International Economic & Technical Cooperation Ltd and China New Energy Development (Zhejiang) Ltd, the contract for which was signed in Windhoek last week with NamPower.

Speaking at the signing ceremony, NamPower MD Kahenge Haulofu said the Rosh Pinah and other infrastructure projects currently under construction are part of NamPower's Integrated Strategic Business Plan for the period 2020-2025.

The Rosh Pinah project will also aid in addressing and supporting the renewable energy commitments prescribed in the Renewable Energy Policy and National Energy Policy, he said.

NamPower has secured a loan for the Rosh Pinah solar farm from Germany's state-owned KfW development bank to cover almost 80% of the cost, with the rest funded off NamPower's balance sheet.

Construction is projected to take about 18 months, with commercial operations scheduled for the second quarter of 2026.

The contractor is required to spend at least 25% of the construction cost on local content, injecting over N$350-m into the Namibian economy, according to NamPower.

Representative of the Chinese joint venture, Yan Deng, said China Jiangxi International has delivered over 600 international engineering projects across more than 50 countries, with these projects from high-rise buildings, roads, bridges, and water conservancy to airports and stadiums.

"For 20 years now, we've been listed among the top 250 international contractors worldwide. Here in Namibia, China Jiangxi International has been active for 20 years, and we've completed 61 projects across the country," he added.

The Rosh Pinah PV plant will be the power utility's second and Namibia's biggest by far, incorporating 300,000 solar panels covering 300ha, according to NamPower's senior manager for generation projects, Ben Mingeli.

NamPower has appointed Mott MacDonald, UK management engineering and development consultancy as its engineer overseeing the plant's construction (Market Watch, 10-Sep-24; Xinhua News Agency, 10-Sep-24).

The Rosh Pinah PV prequalification tender

Twelve offers were received for the Engineering, Procurement and Construction (EPC) of the Rosh Pinah 70MW PV Project, when tender W/OIB/NPWR-04/2023 closed at NamPower in Windhoek on 08-Sep-23. The project seems to have grown from 70MW then to 100MW at the contract award this month.

As reported in Bulletin 1513 at the time, ten Chinese firms were amongst 22 submitting twelve offers for the power project 80% funded through a loan from Germany's KfW Development Bank whose stiff financial and technical criteria forced Namibian contractors into joint venture junior partnerships.

Other prequalification bids were received from Egypt, Germany, Ghana, India, South Africa and United Arab Emirates, while two of three Namibian entities involved in joint venture bids were registered with BIPA only the month before, in Aug-23.

Bids were received from:

- * China Huadian Engineering Co. Ltd (China)
- * China Jiangxi International Economic & Technical Cooperation Co. Ltd (China) / China New Energy Development (Zhejiang) Co. Ltd (China) JV
- * China Nuclear Industry 23 Construction Co. Ltd (China) / Okaparwa Investments cc (Nam - registered on BIPA 01-Aug-23) JV

CIF criticises sidelining locals

Immediately after the tender closed in Sep-23, the Construction Industries Federation of Namibia criticized NamPower's solar project at Rosh Pinah because of its stringent financial and technical criteria (Bulletin 1510).

CHINA'S POWER CHOKEHOLD

With the latest award of the contract to build the Rosh Pinah solar farm, Chinese contractors are now implementing four of Namibia's biggest power projects worth N$5.5-b currently underway out of six totaling N$7.2-b (over 76% by value), some of which are financed through at least N$4.3-b in foreign loans (not grants).

ENERGY UPDATE

The open international bidding pre-qualification tender W/OIB/NPWR-04/2023 is financed through a loan from Germany's KfW Development Bank under project ID 2021 68 607 / 50715.

The CIF said this project "is of such a size that once again our own contractors are excluded ... even if they were to consider a joint venture."

"The financial requirements are so steep that they exclude automatically all local contractors."

Lead tenderers in bidding consortia were required to show audited reports for an annual turnover of €20-m annually (N$420-m) over the past three years.

In addition, the lead bidder would need to have cash or a line of credit in place that is available and proved unutilised amounting to N$168-m.

Technical requirements included:

- * ISO 90001 certification if the bidder does more than 40% of the works;
- * the bidder must also have constructed at least 3 x 30MWp solar parks in the past five years.

"Although Namibian contractors surely have the proven capacity and the technical know-how, there is currently only one solar park, in Mariental, which is bigger than 30MWp, where two local contractors had been engaged as subcontractors."

All other solar parks in Namibia are currently 5, 6, 10 and 12 MWp and the second-biggest in the country, Omburu 2 is 22 MWp, with a further 19MWp park under construction.

"Therefore, all these historic reference projects do not allow our construction companies to meet the minimum qualification criteria."

"Technically, there is no difference between a 12, a 20 or a 70MWp solar park. Just the time for construction is longer."

There is therefore no justification to disregard contractors that have installed, for example 6 x 6MWp and a 12MWp Park in favour of an international bidder.

They might have installed only 2 x 50MWp parks. The challenging part is the grid connection and protection, which is near identical for each park above 3MWp.

"Therefore all local contractors involved with the installation of the Mariental and Omburu solar parks as well as the smaller solar parks will not be able to participate in the tender on the ground that they have not constructed three 30MWp solar parks, and those that were constructed have not been installed in the past five years", the CIF said.

"These projects must be cancelled" and "the financial and technical criteria must be reviewed and the projects re-advertised into smaller lots" (CIF Facebook page, 23-Aug-23).

NamPower's tender exemption, 10% for local subcontractors

Because the power utility is exempted from Section 8 of the Public Procurement Act to procure above its threshold until 30 April 2025, the EPC procurement process will be administered by NamPower in-house in accordance with the Public Procurement Act.

The scope of the EPC contractor includes:

- * the engineering, procurement and construction of the project under a turnkey contract;

* provision of full turnkey-wrap scope of services, including transportation, insurance, customs and duties and a two-year Defects Notification Period;

* subcontracting "all possible local works/ services to Namibian companies in order to achieve a minimum local content spend of 10% of the total EPC contract value";

* ensuring that all unskilled and semi-skilled labour employed are Namibian citizens; and

* supervise the O&M of the Plant during the first two years of operation.

The 10% allocation of the construction value of the project to Namibian subcontractors will hardly compensate for outsourcing the project as a whole to a foreign contractor.

Responding to the CIF's criticisms, NamPower's MD, Simson Haulofu said the 70MW plant complained about is a billion-dollar project for which bidders must have capacity to carry a project of that magnitude.

According to Haulofu, the Procurement Act indicates that such a project is open to international bidders and local construction companies that have built smaller projects must use that experience to look for companies with capacity and form joint ventures (The Namibian, 12-Sep-23).

But as we commented in Bulletin 1510 (22-Sep-23), the CIF does have a point. These billion-dollar foreign loans that Namibia has to repay for big infrastructure projects should foster growth and development in the local construction sector rather than its exclusion.

Instead, the government's narrow conception of 'development' focuses only on the end and not the means through which such projects could develop local industry in the process of their implementation and not merely in the end product.

But, skeptics argue, this would hamper the pursuit of financial patronage in the award of tenders for big projects – as well as their associated loans. Not to mention the opportunity for kickbacks accruing to the political elite.

If there are convincing reasons why such projects should not be scaled to foster Namibia's home-grown construction industry where feasible, we have yet to hear them.

NamPower's other renewable energy projects

NamPower says over six renewable energy projects currently in development are expected to contribute 250 megawatts (MW) to the national electricity grid.

Haulofu, said these projects form part of NamPower's 2020-2025 Integrated Strategic Business Plan (ISBP), aimed at bolstering the country's energy security through sustainable power generation.

"Overall, our ISBP included six key projects, amounting to a total of 250 megawatts of power generation. We are confident that once these projects are completed, they will significantly contribute to our national grid," he said.

N$420-m Omburu Solar PV plant

Among the projects already making headway is the 20MW Omburu Solar Photovoltaic (PV) plant, which was commissioned in April 2022.

Haulofu said this facility is now fully operational, marking a significant milestone in the company's renewable energy drive.

SUPERCHARGED

And this excludes N$2.44-b NamPower borrowed from the World Bank in May for further expansions to the national electricity grid.

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

The construction cost is N$317-m, totaling N$420-m, for both development and construction.

The EPC contract was awarded in Dec-20 to a joint venture between Hopsol Africa and Tulive Private Equity, both Namibian companies based in Windhoek.

The Electricity Control Board (ECB) said NamPower would be permitted to make use of Long Run Marginal Cost (LRMC) funds for the Omburu PV project - funds that the regulator allows the utility to recover through various tariff applications intended to cushion price shocks.

Haulofu said this meant the project was ultimately customer funded and that the overall tariff of the Omburu PV power station was therefore substantially reduced.

The Omburu power plant was built to be ready for battery energy storage, as part of the strategy to provide innovative electricity solutions (The Namibian, 28Jun-22).

N$300-m Khan Solar PV project

In addition, a 20MW Khan Solar PV project, being developed by an independent power producer (IPP), is nearing completion.

"This project is on track to be commissioned by the end of September, or possibly the second week of October. They are already planning for the inauguration, and we are looking forward to its completion," Haulofu revealed.

The project is owned and under development by Access Aussekehr Solar One Namibia, a Namibian IPP funding the project and under construction by Hopsol since 2022.

Under the contract, the Windhoek-based company will install 33,000 solar panels, 100 inverters and related equipment on a 16-hectare site.

In order to optimise its production, the plant will be equipped with 67 single-axis trackers that allow the attached solar panels to follow the sun's movement from east to west.

The electricity generated at Khan will be sold to NamPower under a 25-year power purchase agreement.

N$1.259-b Anixas II Power Station

The next major development is the Anixas II Power Station (Firm Power Project), a 50MW facility located at Walvis Bay, financed by NamPower.

Haulofu noted that the project is in its final testing and commissioning stages, with NamPower expected to officially take over the project within two weeks.

This project, valued at N$1.259-b, began after the signing of an engineering, procurement, and construction (EPC) contract with FK Namibia Joint Venture in 2022.

The joint venture is between FK Namibia - represented by FK Generators and Equipment (International) - and two Namibian firms, PHIM and August Twenty Six Construction (owned by the Ministry of Defence).

N$2-b+ Otjikoto Biomass Power Station - China

NamPower is set to begin development of a 40MW biomass power generation station at Otjikoto Substation near Tsumeb.

"The contract for this project has been awarded ... and by the 25th of this month, I expect we will be ready to commence the next phase", according to Haulofu.

The biomass plant is expected to take approximately 30 months to commission, with completion anticipated in the first quarter of 2027.

With an estimated development cost exceeding N$2-b, the Otjikoto Biomass Power Station, the first and largest of its kind in the country, will generate electricity through the combustion of wood chips sourced from encroacher bush that grows in the areas surrounding the envisaged plant.

Haulofu pointed to the economic potential of converting encroacher bush into electricity. The abundance of encroacher bush and the national electricity shortfall present a unique opportunity for sustainable power generation.

"This project will be one of the answers to the long-awaited realisation of a baseload power station in Namibia," he said.

According to Haulofu, the initiative aims to provide a cost-effective baseload electricity supply and expand the nation's power generation capacity.

The power station, which is expected to be operational by 2027, is being funded as follows, according to NamPower's project fact sheet:

- * A N$1.9-b loan through the Agence française de Développement (AFD) Loan of up to €100-m for the construction of the Otjikoto Biomass Power Station;
- * A €24-m (N$470-m) grant with the Mitigation Action Facility (MAF) as a contribution to the capital cost of the project and for capacity building of the biomass Fuel Supply chain;
- * A N$400-m capital contribution from the Namibian government based on the significant social, environmental, and economic benefits that will accrue from the project and to lower the electricity tariff to end consumers; and
- * A €3-m (N$58-m) grant from the French Fund for Global Environment (Le Fonds Français pour l'Environnement Mondial - FFEM), aimed at maximising the social benefits of the project and for environmental research.

NamPower has secured contracts with four long-term fuel suppliers to harvest, process and deliver 180,000 tonnes wood chips through long-term fuel supply contracts to run for a seven-year term.

The power station will be developed as an Engineering Procurement and Construction (EPC) project and will be owned and operated by NamPower.

Chinese state-owned Dong Fang Electric International Corporation has been selected to implement the project.

N$1.4-b Lüderitz Wind Power Station - China

NamPower is also advancing its plans for wind energy, with a 50MW wind power project at Lüderitz underway.

"The contract has been awarded to CERIM, and they are actively rolling out the project. Soon, we will start to see heavy equipment being delivered to the site as the project progresses," Haulofu enthused.

The N$1.4-b Lüderitz Wind Power Station being built by Cerim Lüderitz Energy, a joint venture company owned by China Energy Engineering Corporation and Rimini Investments, a Namibian company.

The Wind Power Plant will be developed, owned and operated by NamPower.

According to NamPower's project fact sheet, it was intended that the wind power station would be partially financed through a KfW / BMZ loan covering about 80% of the project cost.

N$500-m BESS project - China

On 07-Dec-21, Germany's KfW Development Bank, the National Planning Commission and NamPower signed a grant agreement for €20-m (approximately N$400-m) towards the implementation of the first utility scale Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) in Namibia, and the Southern African region at large.

The grant funds committed by Germany are earmarked for the construction of a 54MW/54MWh BESS Plant at the Omburu Substation, 12km south-east of Omaruru in the Erongo Region.

NamPower will contribute approximately N$100-m to ensure the total project cost of around N$500-m is fully covered, with the balance funded through portion of a World Bank totaling N$2.6-b signed off in May 2024 (see below).

The BESS plant will assist in peak shifting, energy arbitrage, provision of emergency energy, ramp-rate and reactive power control, amongst others.

After an elaborate tendering and evaluation process, NamPower signed the EPC contract with Shandong Electrical, Engineering & Equipment Group Co., Ltd and Zhejiang Narada Power Source Co., Ltd JV on 13 December 2023.

Construction work is planned for 18 months and the plant is expected to be operational by mid 2025.

NamPower is not stopping with these six projects. Haulofu said the company's board of directors is already planning for a new ISBP, which will set the tone for future developments, with consultants being hired to assist in the execution of the upcoming project.

"Looking ahead, our board of directors has already made the decision to start planning for the upcoming years. We are in the process of hiring consultants to assist us in this endeavour and ensure the successful execution of our future projects," Haulofu said (The Brief 11-Sep-24).

The N$2.44-b World Bank loan

In addition to the KfW loans referred to above, the World Bank on 06 May 2024 approved Namibia's first-ever World Bank financed energy project, aimed at improving the reliability of the country's transmission network and enabling increased integration of renewable energy into the country's electricity system.

The N$2.44-b (US$138.5-m) project, to be implemented by NamPower, is structured around three components:

- * development of the second Awas-Kokerboom transmission line,
- * development of a utility scale Battery Energy

Storage System (BESS) facility; and * technical assistance activities to support NamPower develop additional bankable renewable energy projects.

"NamPower welcomes the financing approval of the project, as this is one of the major strategic and crucial investments towards Namibia's electricity transmission network.

"The line will be key to unlocking increased access to variable renewable energy (VRE) within Namibia, as well as facilitate regional electricity trading. In addition, our second utility scale battery energy storage system will be developed and integrated in our transmission network to support the development and uptake of renewable energy plants," said NamPower's MD, Kahenge Haulofu. He pointed out that at present, Namibia's installed renewable capacity was just over 30% of total generation.

The World Bank-funded project will ensure the integration of more variable renewable energy sources in the system, minimizing outage risks, support load growth and unlock future opportunities for power trade in the Southern African Power Pool.

The grant funding from the IBRD Fund for Innovative Global Public Goods Solutions and the Green Climate Fund will be used for developing the second utility-scale battery storage facility in Namibia.

This will further facilitate integration of large-scale renewable energy in Namibia's generation mix, enabling it to reduce imports, improve grid stability, and help manage its demand peaks (<https://www.worldbank.org>).

N$6.74-b power project loans - excluding grants

In summary, the N$2.44-b World Bank loan for electricity projects brings to a total N$6.74-b in foreign loans in addition to:

- * N$1.28-b from KfW towards the N$1.6-b Rosh Pinah solar park, under construction by the China Jiangxi International Economic & Technical Cooperation Ltd and China New Energy Development (Zhejiang) Ltd joint venture.
- * N$1.9-b from the French Development Agency towards the N$2-b+ Otjikoto Biomass Power Station being developed by China's state-owned Dong Fang Electric International Corporation.
- * N$1.12-b from KfW / BMZ towards the N$1.4-b Lüderitz Wind Power Station being built by China Energy Engineering Corporation in joint venture with Rimini Investments.
- * An undisclosed amount from the World Bank towards the N$500-m BESS project, being built by a joint venture between Shandong Electrical, Engineering & Equipment Group Co., Ltd and Zhejiang Narada Power Source Co., Ltd. This project is also being financed through a €20-m (N$400-m) grant from Germany's KfW Development Bank, with NamPower contributing N$100-m and the balance funded through portion of a World Bank totaling N$2.6-b signed in May 2024.

N$202-M AUTOMATED MEDICINE LABORATORY SYSTEMS

20 SEPTEMBER 2024

The Central Procurement Board has awarded a N$202-m tender for automated laboratory systems to the Molecular Medicine Centre in the Namibia Institute of Pathology, according to a notice posted on the CPB's website on 06-Aug-24.

Tender Bulletin 1483 reported that two offers were received when the tender closed at the NIP Head Office in Windhoek on 27-Feb-23.

Open international bidding tender G/OIB/NIP-01/2023 was for a turnkey

Central Procurement Board awards five-year contract on behalf of the Namibia Institute of Pathology's Molecular Medicine Centre seventeen months after the tender had closed solution for the supply, delivery, installation, commissioning and maintenance of an automated laboratory solution for the Molecular Medicine Centre of Excellence in Windhoek over five years. No bid details were provided for the two tenderers in the bid opening report:

* Abbott Laboratories SA
* Roche Diagnostics.

According to the award notice posted on the CPB website, the tender was awarded to:

* Roche Diagnostics (Pty) Ltd from Midrand in

TENDER AWARDS
THESE UPDATES ARE COMPILED FROM MEDIA REPORTS AND MARKET NAMIBIA & TENDER BULLETIN'S OWN SOURCES.

South Africa = N$202,032,153.92 corrected to N$202,032,153.73 including VAT.

Although the award notice states "for more details log onto www.cpb.nam", the only further information was under the 'Addition of BEC Reports' tab, which listed the tender on 18-Jul-24, when the CPB approved the NIP's bid evaluation report.

It is not clear at what stage the CPB took over the award of the NIP tender - but the procurement value certainly exceeds the threshold of goods, which the NIP may procure on its own.

NAMFI TENDERS A FARCE

20 SEPTEMBER 2024

The Namibian Maritime & Fisheries Institute in Walvis Bay is sparing no costs for its graduation ceremony on 18-Oct-24 at the Narraville Municipal Hall - but the RFQ tenders were only posted on the NAMFI website on the closing date of 13-Sep-24.

These tender invitations (all closing at 14:30 on 13-Sep-24) may have been dated 03- and 04-Sep-24 but it is anyone's guess how NAMFI obtained meaningful quotations from suitable suppliers, unless some companies were invited directly.

In addition to the five tenders for the graduation ceremony, the institute also issued a 12-month tender for the supply of welding gas and engineering consumables, which only became visible on the closing date as well - too late to be disseminated to our Tender Bulletin or Tender Exchange subscribers.

The secretary of the NAMFI Procurement Committee is Hertha Steven, who signed off on these tenders:

- * G/RFQ/NAMFI-31/2024 for the supply and delivery of 200x [sic] branded graduation scroll tubes, printed with NAMFI logo for the graduation ceremony.
- * NCS/RFQ/NAMFI-28/2024 for the provision of food for NAMFI graduates on 18-Oct-24 at the Narraville Municipal Hall, consisting of hamburgers and soft drinks for 300 [sic] pax.
- * NCS/RFQ/NAMFI-30/2024 for catering services, including the venue, to offer a lunch buffet with soft drinks for 60 to 100 guests and NAMFI staff members at NAMFI graduation ceremony on 18-Oct-24.
- * NCS/RFQ/NAMFI-29/2024 for the provision

The Namibian Maritime & Fisheries Institute in Walvis Bay wants a lunch buffet for 100 guests, 300 hamburgers (and 200 scrolls) for graduates together with sound, projection and stage at its graduation ceremony in October - but the tenders were only visible on the closing date in September, as was the case for a year's supply of welding gas and engineering consumables of photography services for NAMFI graduates on 18-Oct-24.

- * NCS/RFQ/NAMFI-32/2024 for the provision of sound, projection and stage at NAMFI graduation ceremony on 18-Oct-24.
- * G/RFQ/NAMFI-25/2024 for the supply and delivery of welding gas and engineering consumables for 12 months (44 items).

Only two ONB tenders this year

So far this year, NAMFI has issued only two ONB tenders which were advertised in The Namibian on 20-Feb-24:

- * CS/RP/NAMFI-01/2024 for the development of a five-year "integrated" Strategic Business Plan closed 12-Mar-24 and was awarded on 24-May-24 to Lavenham Investments for N$402,000, according to a quarterly procurement report.
- * But there is no information on the NAMFI website on the award of tender G/ONB/NAMFI-01/2024 for a Full Mission Engine Room Simulator System including software, hardware and training "Documentation and Installation" that had closed on 22-Mar-24 (as listed in Tender Bulletin 1529).

In addition, the website lists one RFQ tender that was cancelled due to "unclear specifications":

- * NCS/RFQ/NAMFI-21/2024: Design of NAMFI course brochures, new pull-up banners and design of NAMFI prospectus in soft copy.

This tender was cancelled on 18-Jul-24 in terms of Section 54(1)(g) of the PPA 15 of 2015 in that it "does not create or achieve the expected outcome".

Over 70% of NAMFI's bids are conducted through Direct Procurement

According to the first quarterly procurement report currently posted on the NAMFI website for 01-Jan-24 to 31-Mar-24, the institute issued and awarded 44 tenders of which 33 (75%) were conducted through the direct procurement method, while the rest were Informal Quotation (IQ) bids for small value goods and services.

The second quarterly procurement report posted on the website for 01-Apr-24 to 30-Jun-24 lists 39 tenders issued and awarded, of which 26 (67%) were conducted through direct procurement, while the rest were mostly IQs plus two requests for quotations.

NAMFI used the DP method for anything from security services, IT licenses and services, legal services, plumbing and maintenance, printing, advertising, flowers/hampers, HR services, electrical works, travel management, servicing of fire extinguishers, insurance, conference venue and refreshments, catering to servicing of motor vehicles.

According to the Tender Bulletin's database, most of these tenders were not posted on the NAMFI website, where RFQ tenders seem to have been listed since July this year.

No annual procurement plan is posted on the NAMFI website either - although the website provides for a tab for 'Annual Procurement Plans'.

What DP is supposed to be

According to the Public Procurement Act, the Direct Procurement method is only supposed to be used to procure goods or services from a single source without competition, i.e. where only one supplier has the exclusive right to manufacture/supply such goods, works or services and no suitable alternative is available.

The DP method may also be used for additional goods/services by the original supplier or where additional works were not included in the initial contract.

Subject to prescribed due diligence, DP may also be used for consultancy services to select a supplier due to their unique qualifications or where continuity of the consultancy services is essential to meet the objects of the procurement.
