Foreign development grants have grown by an enormous 3,550% from N$20-m in 2020/21 to N$730-m in 2024/25 – but these are mostly inducements from the same agencies advancing loans, whose portfolios of lending stock to Namibia on development projects have swollen from N$565-m in 2020/21 to N$2.434-b in 2024/25.

11 OCTOBER 2024

The N$12.8-b Namibia's government is spending on servicing its national debt in 2024/25 is 35% more than the N$9.47-b it has set aside for development projects from its own fiscal resources. And even if this year's N$3.1-b foreign development grants and loans are added, the N$12.6-b that flows into investment projects still falls short of what is being spent on interest payments.

Foreign development loans (excluding grants) totaling N$2.4-b this year are almost double 2023/24's N$1.3-b and the highest over the past five years, having grown over 330% since N$565-m in 2020/21, while domestically financed development expenditure has grown by only 57.8% from N$6-b to this year's N$9.47-b over the same five years.

Foreign development grants on their own have grown by an enormous 3,550% from N$20-m in 2020/21 to N$730-m in 2024/25 – but these are mostly inducements from the same agencies advancing loans, whose portfolios of lending stock to Namibia on development projects have swollen from N$565-m in 2020/21 to N$2.434-b in 2024/25.

If both foreign development loans and grants are added to the domestic component, overall development expenditure has grown by 61.85% since 2020/21 – from N$7.785-b to N$12.6-b in 2024/25.

As we noted in our analysis of the main budget, the impressive 46% increase in this year's domestically-financed development budget to N$9.47-b outstrips the global budget's 11.6% increment, but is still below 2025/16's actual N$9.8-b development expenditure when it accounted for over 15% of overall expenditure, compared to this year's 9.77% (Bulletin 1533).

While this year's domestically-financed development budget is the second-highest since 2015/16's N$9.8-b, the allocation for construction – all of which forms part of the development budget – has been superceded in nine previous years over the past eleven since 2013/14 and is bigger than those of only two earlier years – N$2.78-b actual expenditure in 2021/22 and 2023/24's N$2.2-b revised expenditure.

The development

The N$9.47-b development budget for 2024/25 is bolstered by N$3.2-b foreign loans and grants, raising it to N$12.67-b, compared to last year when N$6.486-b domestic development expenditure was supplemented by N$2-b in foreign loans and grants – both years less than 2022/23's N$2.7-b.

Finance minister Iipumbu Shiimi acknowledged in his budget speech when tabling this year's main estimates in parliament in February that "the past years of difficult economic conditions have culminated in a slowed pace of public investments as evidenced in a persistently small and falling development budget."

"As a result, there has been significant underinvestment in critical infrastructure" which will be addressed over the MTEF "to make the necessary provisions to accelerate infrastructure development and unlock lasting social and economic value".

But it would seem that an expanded development programme cannot be funded without incurring additional foreign borrowing, in spite of 2024/25's 46% and last year's 32% increases in domestically-funded development expenditure.

This is despite Shiimi acknowledging as recently as last year in his budget speech in March 2023 that the 11% increase in the cost of servicing domestic and foreign debt in 2022/23 was almost tenfold the 1.56% increase in overall budget expenditure at the beginning of that year.

"This means a significant share of our revenues will be absorbed by debt servicing, adversely impacting allocations to key programmes in furtherance of our national development objectives."

Yet in the same budget address, the finance minister announced that the government "is committed to partnering with international Development Finance Institutions in executing large capital project so as to safeguard the fiscal space" – with the implication of ramping up foreign debt for development projects even further.

The history of debt and development

Although an 11.8% projected growth in Namibia's GDP to N$275.8-b this year is bigger than the 7.6% increase in sovereign debt stock to N$165.8-b, the ratio of the national debt stock to GDP has declined from 62.5% last year to a projected 60.1% in 2024/25, but the budget deficit has risen by 14.1% from N$7.8-b to N$8.9-b.

This year's 36% gap between interest payments and development expenditure is also less than half last year's 79.78%, when N$11.765-b revised expenditure was recorded on interest payments and N$6.5-b on development expenditure.

The gap was widest in 2022/23 when actual expenditure of N$9.466-b was recorded for servicing debt compared to N$4.9-b on development projects – a gap of over 93%.

In fact, interest payments on debt (foreign and domestic) overtook development expenditure for the first time in 2018/19, when N$4.8-b actual development expenditure was 25% less than N$6-b spent on interest payments.

Since then, more has been spent annually on servicing government debt than on development projects, with the gap widening until 2023/24:

* in 2019/20, N$6.885-b was spent on servicing debt and N$5.7-b on development projects – 20.78% more;

* in 2020/21, interest payments cost N$7.3-b compared to N$6-b development expenditure – 21.6% more;

* in 2021/22, N$7.7-b was spent on servicing debt and N$4.7-b on development projects – 63.8% more;

* in 2022/23, N$9.466-b was spent on interest payments and N$4.9-b on development – a gap of 93%;

* in terms of 2023/24's revised expenditure, debt servicing cost N$11.765-b, compared to N$6.486-b development expenditure – 81.4% more.

Prior to 2018/19, it was the other way round, with development expenditure exceeding interest payments – but by a narrowing margin year after year:

* in 2013/14, N$7.45-b was spent on development projects compared to N$1.8-b on servicing government debt – 313.8% more;

* in 2014/15, N$8.7-b was spent on development projects compared to N$2.5-b on servicing debt – 248% more;

* in 2015/16, development expenditure of N$9.8-b exceeded N$2.6-b interest payments by 277%;

* in 2016/17, development expenditure of N$7-b exceeded N$4.3-b interest payments by 62.8%;

* in 2017/18, development expenditure of N$5.6-b exceeded N$5.4-b interest payments by only 3.7%.

The mediocre growth of development expenditure

In contrast to the steady expansion in the costs of servicing government debt, Namibia's N$9.47-b domestically-financed development budget

Accordingly, the corresponding project financing component below-the-line will be removed henceforth.

of indebtedness

accounting for 9.77% of the N$97-b budget in 2024/25 is less than its peak of N$9.8-b in 2015/16 when it accounted for 15.2% of all N$64.6-b expenditure (excluding foreign loans and grants).

This is despite the 46% increase in domestically-financed development projects this year compared to last year's revised N$6.5-b expenditure.

Over the past twelve years between 2013/14 and 2024/25:

* debt servicing costs have increased from N$1.8-b by 711% to N$12.8-b or 59.26% averaged annually;

* development expenditure has increased from N$7.45-b by 127% to N$9.47-b – 10.6% averaged annually.

As a share of overall budget expenditure over the past twelve years between 2013/14 and 2024/25:

* debt servicing costs have more than trebled from 3.8% to 13.24%;

* development expenditure has fallen from 16% to 9.77%.

The rise of foreign development funding

Combining foreign loans and grants over the past seven years as a share of development expenditure:

* In 2018/19, only N$513-m or 6.6% out of N$7.8-b development spending was financed outside the State Revenue Fund, with N$7.3-b or 93.4% financed inside the SRF.

* Of 2019/20's N$7.2-b overall development expenditure, N$5.7-b or 80% was domestically funded, while N$1.5-b was or 20% was externally financed. This translates into an 8% decline in overall development expenditure, a 22% decline in the domestic component and a trebling of externally funded development expenditure.

* Things reversed in 2020/21, when overall development expenditure totaled N$7.8-b, of which N$7.2-b or a bigger 92.5% was financed domestically and N$586-m or a lesser 8% externally. This translates into an 8% increase in overall development expenditure, a 26% increase in the domestic component and a 61% decline in externally funded development expenditure.

* In 2021/22 the pendulum swung the other way, when overall development expenditure totaled N$5.7-b, of which N$4.57-b or a lesser 80% was financed domestically and N$1.13-b or a bigger 22.8% externally. This translates into a 27% decrease in overall development expenditure, a huge decrease of almost 274% in the domestic component and a 93% increase in externally funded development expenditure.

* This trend continued in 2022/23, when overall development expenditure totaled N$5.888-b, of which N$4-b or a lesser 68% was financed domestically and N$1.866-b or a bigger 31.7% externally. This translates into a mere 3.3% increase in overall development expenditure, a 12.5% decrease in domestic development expenditure and a 65% increase in externally funded development expenditure.

* In 2023/24, overall development expenditure totaled N$8.378-b, of which N$7.487-m or a higher 89% was financed domestically and N$1.89-b or a lower 22.5% externally. This translates into an increase of over 42% in overall development expenditure, 87% more in the domestic component and only 1.3% more in externally funded development expenditure.

* In 2024/25, overall development expenditure totals N$12.635-b, of which N$9.47-b or a lower 80% is financed domestically and N$3.164-b or a higher 25.6% externally. This translates into an increase of almost 51% in overall development expenditure, only 26.5% more in the domestic component and over 67% more in externally funded development expenditure.

The clear trend is a decreasing share of domestically funded development expenditure in tandem with an increasing share of externally funded project spending.

More of the foreign development funding is being channeled outside the State Revenue Fund – beyond direct government control, whereas previously, a higher proportion of foreign loans and grants were channeled through the SRF, reflecting a higher level of confidence by foreign lenders and donors in Namibia's fiscal governance capacity.

Debt metrics more complicated

Meanwhile, the complexity with which the central government's development budget metrics on external funding are portrayed in the budget increased further in 2024/25 (Bulletin 1536).

This new methodology – the reasons for which have not been explained since they were introduced in 2022/23 – is referred to in a table in the Ministry of Finance & Public Enterprises' 'Fiscal strategy for the MTEF 2024/25 – 2026/27'.

A footnote to the table – 'Trend of Fiscal Indicators' and 'Policy Scenario Fiscal Stance', states: "Starting in the FY2023/24, expenditure outside budget are incorporated in the budget deficit calculations above the line – net of the grant-funded component. The grant-funded component could not be recorded as part of revenues because they are not channeled through the State Revenue Fund, as per the statistical requirements. Accordingly, the corresponding project financing component below-the-line will be removed henceforth."

Domestic and foreign debt

Over the past seven years, overall government debt increased by 89.5% from N$87.5-b in 2018/19 to 2024/25's projected N$165.8-b, consisting of:

* a more than doubling in domestic debt stock from N$55.3-b in 2018/19 to this year's projected N$124.3-b – a 124.7% increase; and

* a milder 28.5% increase in foreign debt stock from N$32.3-b in 2018/19 to this year's projected N$41.5-b.

The massive increase in domestic compared to foreign debt stock highlights increased borrowing to plug the operational budget deficit, while the softer increase in foreign debt indicates the slowing growth in domestic development expenditure over the period, which foreign borrowing mainly – but not exclusively – targets.

Foreign loans

As noted in Bulletin 1533, foreign loans totaling N$3.164-b have been provided for under the development budget in 2024/25 – over 67% more than last year's revised N$1.89-b and 2022/23's actual N$1.866-b.

Foreign loans in 2024/25 consist of:

* N$1.751-b from the AfDB for the Namibia Seed Improvement Programme (NAMSIP), rail, road and water sectors as well as the Namibia Training Improvement Programme (ETQIP) to the education cluster – more than double last year's N$714-m tranche; and

* N$683-m from Germany's KfW Development Bank, including the water sector – less than half last year's N$1.76-b tranche.

These are listed in the finance ministry's 'Fiscal strategy for the MTEF 2024/25 – 2026/27' table titled 'Trend of Fiscal Indicators' and 'Policy Scenario Fiscal Stance', which no longer itemizes foreign loans as it did last year

The gap between interest payments on government loans and domestically-funded development expenditure was widest in 2022/23 when actual expenditure of N$9.466-b was recorded for servicing debt compared to N$4.9-b on development projects – a gap of over 93%.

when it specified each loan amount for individual lenders.

This table in the finance ministry's budget for 2023/24 provided a breakdown of foreign development expenditure supported by external loans that year:

* AfDB NAMSIP Loan tranche for agriculture increased from N$41-m midyear 2022/23 to N$350-m;

* AfDB Rail Transport Loan tranche fell from N$608-m midyear 2022/23 to N$214-m;

* AfDB Road Transport Loan tranche fell from N$214-m midyear 2022/23 to N$122-m;

* AfDB ETQIP loan tranche for school renovations fell from N$302-m 2022/23 midyear to N$175-m;

* AfDB Loan tranche for Water Sector projects increased from N$12-m midyear 2022/23 to N$411-m in 2023/24;

* a tranche of KfW Loans for Water Sector Projects rose from N$100-m in 2022/23 (reduced midyear to N$0-m) to N$446-m in 2023/24.

The following foreign development loans listed in 2023/24 were aside from operational budget loans:

* expenditure from other AfDB financing (EGCP-SP+Covid-19 loans), which amounted to N$3.478-b in 2022/23 and N$1.27-b projected for 2023/24

* another N$1.27-b projected for 2023/24 from a KfW loan.

No Chinese loans or grants are mentioned anywhere in these tables, which observers estimate to total above N$2-b, according to various sources (see Bulletin 1486, March 2023).

See accompanying table for more comprehensive details on debt and other key budget metrics.

Post-budget borrowing

Following the tabling of the 2024/25 budget in February this year, it was announced last month (September) that Namibia has secured N$2.6-b funding from the World Bank for the expansion of NamPower's transmission network and for the integration of renewable energy into the national power grid.

Namibia's first World Bank financed Transmission Expansion & Energy Storage (TEES) project worth US$138.5-m (about N$2.6-b) was also approved earlier this year.

The latest financial package is structured around the development of the second 465km Auas – Kokerboom 400kV transmission line, the development of a second utility-scale Battery Energy Storage System facility, and technical assistance to NamPower to develop bankable renewable energy projects.

The funding consists of a US$18.5-m grant from the World Bank and the Green Climate Fund plus a US$100-m loan from the World Bank and a US$20-m loan from the GCF (Bulletin 1559).

It was also announced in September that Namibia and Germany have signed development assistance agreements valued at €19-m (about N$386-m), covering three new programmes focusing on climate resilient water supply and groundwater management in Northern Namibia and urban development in Lüderitz and Aus in the //Karas Region. A joint statement to this effect was announced by the National Planning Commission and the German Embassy in Windhoek, without specifying the loan or grant components in the latest package (Bulletin 1559).

Additional foreign loans totaling N$3.062-b were also announced by the Bank of Namibia in 2022/23 shortly after the tabling of the budget in February that year, in addition to 2022/23's estimated foreign debt amounting to N$35.586-b tabled with the budget – up from the previous year's N$32.255-b.

This echoed what happened in 2021/22, when the government took out two additional loans not disclosed when that year's budget was tabled, totaling N$6.5-b – N$2-b from the AfDB and N$4.5-b from the IMF (the first-ever loan from the International Monetary Fund for operational expenditure during the Covid pandemic).

In 2021/22 the AfDB approved a N$2.011-b loan to finance the Namibia Economic Governance and Competitiveness Support Programme (EGCSP), while the IMF approved a N$4.5-b loan to Namibia under the Rapid Financing Instrument (RFI) "to address urgent balance of payment and fiscal financing needs stemming from the Covid-19 pandemic".

Debt forecasts

External debt is estimated to increase by N$2.4-b in 2024/25 and decline in 2025/26 as a result of the partial Eurobond redemption (Bulletin 1539).

Negotiations with the African Development Bank (AfDB) have been concluded, securing a total funding of N$3.7-b for the upgrading of the railway line between Kranzberg-Tsumeb and Otavi-Grootfontein, with the Namibian government contributing about N$3.4-b to the same section, bringing the total funding to N$7.1-b.

The funding for the railway projects is implemented on a 60:40 ratio contribution by the AfDB and the government, for which the latter is reflected under the development budget.

Under the water sector programme, an agreement has been reached with Kreditanstalt für Wiederaufbau (KfW) to fund new water infrastructure projects with €140-m or N$2.8-b under the water sector support programme (WSSP).

The program consists of the Gammas Direct Potable Reclamation Plant II (DPR2) and the upgrading of Gammas and Otjomuise wastewater treatment plants in Windhoek.

A further €50-m or N$1-b loan

N$2.4-b foreign development loans are almost earmarked to improve the Rural Water Supply has been secured, where Nam-water as the implementing agency has commenced with procurement.

Other projects to benefit from foreign funding are the upgrading of the Oshakati Water Treatment Plant, Rundu Water Treatment Plant and a second well at the Ohangwena Aquifer to the tune of N$3.3-b.

These projects are co-funded funded through a loan of N$1.8-b from the AfDB and an allocation of N$1.5-b from the government, the latter also indicated under the development budget.

"Procurement for these projects has been completed and construction is expected to commence during this

FUELLING THE FLAMES OF MALFEASANCE

11 OCTOBER 2024

With a N$1.2-b government guarantee under its belt, corporate infighting, high-stakes malfeasance and corruption in its ranks, alongside the theft of millions in petroleum products, the state-owned National Petroleum Corporation of Namibia is now trying to turn its dismal governance failures around.

Its recently appointed new board of directors fired its disgraced MD Immanuel Mulunga in August on charges under the Prevention of Organised Crime Act involving fuel facilities and fuel supply to the Namibian defence force.

It did so two days after retired judge Gerhard Maritz had advised the board not to dismiss Mulunga on charges of fraud and breach of trust for failing to disclose crucial information to the directors.

This related to Mulunga paying US$6.7-m (about N$123-m) from Namcor Exploration & Production to a foreign entity that had failed to meet their requirements in a joint venture vehicle, Sungara Energies Limited (jointly owned by Namcor, Petrolog and Sequa), aimed at an oil exploration and extraction project in Angola though the purchase of a 10% stake in the Block 15/06 and a share purchase agreement with the Angolan state oil company Sonangol.

Mulunga convinced Maritz that the board had given him sweeping powers to do what was necessary to ensure the success of the oil venture, although the board argued that it never intended to provide Mulunga carte blanche to sign off and commit the petroleum utility to a project with financial implications of over N$8-b.

The Namcor board met on 08-Aug-24 to deliberate on the misconduct case on the basis that the asset acquisition transactions involving Enercon and Erongo Petroleum amounted to dismissable offenses, as conveyed to Mulunga's in his letter of dismissal.

While still MD of the state-owned enterprise, Mulunga led the deal to buy Enercon, which had an agreement with the Namibian Defence Force to supply the military's fuel needs, as well as to renovate Enercon's oil storage facilities.

Mulunga had approved a recommendation from Olivia Dunaiki in Jul-22 for Namcor to take over Enercon's assets for N$53-m, without establishing whether Enercon was the lawful owner of these assets. Dunaiki is a former commercial manager at Namcor, who resigned in Sep-23 and is now employed by Erongo Petroleum.

It turned out that Enercon had tricked Namcor into buying oil facilities it did not own, after it was found that an internal valuation of these assets by Nestor Sheefeni and Michael Aipanda was a sham, because they were not qualified to carry out such a valuation.

Mulunga was also accused of motivating this purchase and getting Namcor to pay N$53-m without conducting due diligence and without securing a replacement contract between the defence ministry and Namcor to supply petroleum products to the military.

The payment of N$53-m reportedly exceeded Mulunga's level of authority and he also did not inform the board of directors before the purchase.

August 26 Holdings & Elindi companies to be shut down

Namcor has now taken steps to shut down two of the companies jointly owned by the Defence Force's August 26 Holdings and the Elindi family, who are accused of fraudulent business transactions and failure to pay the state oil company for fuel products received. The companies Enercon and Erongo Petroleum reportedly owe Namcor about N$380-m in total.

Enercon is owned by brothers Peter and Malakia Elindi and August 26 Holdings, whose sole shareholder is the Ministry of Defence & Veterans Affairs. The joint venture had a 15-year contract to supply fuel to the defence ministry and to build and refurbish oil depots. They also had a 10-year contract for the same services to Namibia Wildlife Resorts.

Although Enercon then cancelled its agreement with Namcor due to objections from the defence authorities, Namcor has since been struggling to recover its money, having been forced to resort to lines of bank credit to sell fuel to the military, which led to cash flow problems.

Meanwhile, Namcor Petroleum Trading & Distribution has instituted court proceedings to liquidate Erongo Petroleum, which owes it N$266-m. According to an agreement between the two entities signed on 20-Sep-20, Erongo Petroleum was only entitled to a credit line of N$15-m, but managed to obtain fuel products to the value of N$266-m from Namcor.

According to insiders, these transactions must have involved senior officials at the SOE, while there are also claims of some employees receiving kickbacks from vendors, but which could not be traced to their bank accounts.

According to former Namcor board member, Engelhardt Kongoro, there must have been collusion between the company's employees and Erongo Petroleum.

In his defense, Erongo Petroleum's sole member, Austin Elindi, described the claims of collusion as scandalous and denied that his company owes Namcor N$266-m. But in Jul-23 Erongo Petroleum wrote a letter to Namcor proposing to make monthly payments of N$4-m over 48 months to settle its debt.

Namcor also filed High Court liquidation applications in April this year against Enercon, which owes N$114-m for fuel bought on credit for resale after the national oil company already took Enercon to court in 2023 for non-payment of about N$60-m.

The Namibian government in May provided Namcor with a N$1.2-b bailout in the form of a sovereign guarantee to pay suppliers and creditors. In September last year, Namcor owed its suppliers N$1.9-b and faced liquidation, while in August, Namcor's downstream operations were facing a working capital deficit of about N$1.6-b.

At the end of the 2022/2023 financial year, Namcor reported a loss of about N$700-m (The Namibian 15-May-24; The Namibian 23-Jul-24; New Era 29-Jul-24; New Era 07-Aug-24; Namibian Sun 08-Aug-24; New Era, Namibian Sun, The Namibian 09-Aug-24; New Era, The Namibian 12-Aug-24; Confidante 23-Aug-24).

In his budget speech in February, finance minister Iipumbu Shiimi referred to newly issued guarantees in 2023/24 in support of entities such as Meatco and Namcor for business rescue and recapitalization.

Massive fuel theft at NSOF

NAMCOR discovered the theft of fuel worth over N$1-m while in transit from the National Oil Storage Facility in Walvis Bay to one of its major bulk clients, following the diversion of 39,993 litres diesel ADO 50 ppm in December 2023 and 39,891 of the same product in January 2024, it said in a media statement in February.

"Despite loading documents suggesting that the two loads were destined for a customer site, there is no evidence of the product having arrived or received by the bulk fuel customer."

It conducted an extensive internal investigation and opening a case of theft with the Walvis Bay Police that month. Namcor noted that the theft was linked to the resignation of the truck driver who transported the two loads. The driver worked for one of the companies contracted by NAMCOR to transport fuel on its behalf and resigned on 8 February 2024.

But there was much more to come. The Namibian reported in July that Namcor had suspended its terminal manager, Ellis Egumbo, that month at the NSOF in relation to the theft of more than 69 trucks containing 2.7 million litres of fuel, which was confirmed by the SOE's spokesperson, Utaara Hoveka.

"It is primarily premised on stock and commercial documentation losses at the National Oil Storage Facilities in Walvis Bay", he told the newspaper.

The Namibian had reported in March that the police were investigating a potential large-scale fuel theft after 69 trucks dispatched from Namcor reportedly failed to deliver cargo to customers, with sources estimating the losses at about N$49-m.

Four people were arrested between February and March in connection with the earlier N$1-m fuel theft, including Denzel Mulunga, a nephew of suspended Namcor MD Immanuel Mulunga, and Jason Malima, who is related to Victor Malima, former CEO of Enercon, the military fuel supplying firm taken to court by Namcor for struggling to pay back N$60-m it owes.

Both Immanuel Mulunga and Victor Malima denied any wrongdoing however, according to the report.

While the timeline of the bigger fuel thefts is unclear, it was reported that each truck would carry 40,000 litres of fuel Namcor sells at around N$18/l to bulk customers, bringing total losses to an estimated N$49-m.

The fuel was diverted from the delivery tankers to other trucks before delivery to Namcor's customers, which tracking devices inside the drivers' cabins failed to detect.

The newspaper's sources said this operation involved collusion between Namcor staff, truck drivers and insiders at the bulk customer's facility (The Namibian, 28 July 2024).

The turnaround plan

In the face of all the fallout over malfeasance and failed governance, Namcor announced on 01 October that it was embarking on a turnaround plan for the company's performance and "foster accountability".

Namcor had settled significant financial obligations with key suppliers, including a N$550-m down payment to one of its creditors, Gunvor, saved N$22-m in operational efficiencies and was engaged in restructuring its debt through the renegotiation of key supplier contracts, including a revised Basic Fuel Price (BFP) agreement projected to increase gross margins by N$15-m over the next 12 to 18 months.

The SOE said it had embarked on measures to enhance accountability and governance, implementing "rigorous consequence management measures to address internal misconduct."

"Legal proceedings have been initiated against former employees involved in misconduct and several key positions have undergone disciplinary action", demonstrating Namcor's "commitment to integrity and governance".

Namcor had signed a farm-out agreement with Chevron, allowing the latter to acquire an 80% operating working interest in offshore areas PEL 82 for US$5-m (N$90-m), strengthening its upstream exploration capabilities (<https://www.namcor.com.na>).

NAMCOR'S ERP SYSTEM ESCALATES FROM N$25-M TO N$68-M ... AND COUNTING

11 OCTOBER 2024

Namcor's tender for the supply, implementation and commissioning of an Enterprise Resource Planning software system to Green Enterprise Solutions in January 2022 has reportedly escalated from N$25-m in 2019 to N$68-m in May last year, after the system was found to be functioning inadequately – with a further N$14-m expected to be spent by March this year.

Complaints by staff members in several Namcor departments indicated incorrect payments due to the software system and discrepancies with transactions, pricing, sales volumes per customer and per product, amongst the problems encountered.

Among the thirteen companies that competed for the tender in 2019, rival bidders New Point Electronics Solutions and Virtua Technologies had objected to the award, inter alia because Green Enterprise had not completed a project of such magnitude and was technically inferior.

New Point also claimed that the pricing on the bid opening differed from the award notice and these discrepancies should have been communicated to all bidders.

The Review Panel based at the Ministry of Finance & Public Enterprises ruled that the tender should be re-advertised. But when Green Enterprises took the matter to the High Court in Oct-21, it ruled in favour of the successful bidder and set aside the RP's ruling (The Namibian 10-Jan-24).

11 OCTOBER 2024

The Ministry of Information & Communication Technology is hosting a lavish function in Lüderitz next week for its PECO Awards Celebration attended by 150 attendees treated to a feast fit for royalty, followed by a pleasure cruise and a sightseeing excursion.

Three requests for quotations were issued on 02-Oct-24 with a closing date of 09-Oct-24, as listed in Tender Bulletin 1560 - for a venue, catering and sightseeing trips on 18-Oct-24, while no tenders could be found for accommodation or transport for the lavish affair 840km from Windhoek.

A venue for 150 guests was required under reference NCS/RFQ/29-57/2024, while the dinner itself was called for under NCS/RFQ/29-58/2024.

The dinner requires 150 starter platters with fresh bread rolls, oysters, prawns, calamari rings, mini tacos with Kapana beef, mini pita breads with lamb curry and dipping sauces.

The main buffet consists of cooked beetroot and butternut, fresh salad with

LIVING IT UP IN LÜDERITZ

While most Namibians are food insecure, the Ministry of Information & Communication Technology is hosting a lavish function in Lüderitz next week for 150 attendees who will be treated to a feast fit for royalty, followed by a BBQ with DJ and a N$10,000 bar tab, a pleasure cruise and a sightseeing excursion spinach, tomato, cucumber and Feta, couscous salad, roasted baby potatoes, egg-fried rice, creamy spinach, lamb stew, seafood stir-fry and traditional "farm chicken cooked in the potjie".

Dessert consists of mini Pavlovas with fresh seasonal fruit, malva pudding with custard and chocolate brownies with chocolate sauce.

For beverages, bidders had to quote for fifteen bottles each of 'Angel Tears' red and white wines plus two soft drinks per person.

The third tender - NCS/RFQ/29-59/2024 - called for excursions for 150 guests - between 15- and 19-

Oct-24 - for a boat cruise and trip to Kolmanskop.

All three tenders were signed off by the MICT PMU Head, Andreas Amunyela. The ministry's website does not explain what the PECO acronym stands for.

Braai for 30 with N$10,000 bar tab and DJ

Another tender became visible on the MICT website on 09-Oct-23 for a barbecue for 30 guests to be held on 19-Oct-24 in Lüderitz.

The invitation letter for tender NCS/RFQ/29-60/2024 is dated 04-Oct-24 but stamped 08-Oct-24 and closes on 14-Oct-24 - five days before the event.

BAD NEWS BREAKING ON

It calls for catering services for MICT, listing a detailed braai menu with lamb chops, Kapana and salsa, boerewors, chicken wings sosatie, Chimichurri crayfish tails, beef and vegetables sosaties, maize/mahangu pap, cheesy garlic bread, creamy mustard and mayo potato salad as well as Greek salad.

The braai set-up includes wood, charcoal, Blitz and braai stand.

The bar must allow for an open tab of N$10,000, while a DJ provides entertainment.

Seven tables and 30 chairs are required, as well with chafing dishes and serving utensils.

N$3.7-M ONGWEDIVA FIRE HYDRANT SYSTEM

11 OCTOBER 2024

The University of Namibia awarded a high-value open national bidding construction tender that was not advertised nor listed on its website to S Shikongo Construction & Renovation for N$3.7-m, according to a notice on its website.

UNAM does sometimes advertise its ONB tenders in local newspapers but more often than not these are posted only its website, alongside RFQs and RFP consulting tenders.

Tender W/ONB/UNAM-01/2024 for the construction of the fire hydrant system for the Hifikepunye Pohamba Campus in Ongwediva closed 05-Apr-24 with sixteen offers.

The tender was issued on 29-Feb-24 according to the executive summary of the bid evaluation report, for which the cost estimate was N$5.8-m.

The following twelve companies were disqualified:

* Watota Investment = N$2,161,740.93 - did

* Hungwe Civil Engineering & Construction / Wynn's Plant Hire & Construction JV = N$6,922,391.19 - no JV agreement; did not provide three completion certificates for similar projects.

Two companies did not obtain the minimum of 70% on the technical evaluation:

* Pilot Investment = N$3,320,273 - 50%

* Ashikuni Construction & Plumbing = N$5,159,049.50 - 65%.

That left two responsive companies whose financial offers were evaluated:

* S Shikongo Construction & Renovation = N$3,695,626 excl. VAT - recommended for the award as lowest responsive bidder

* Tokar Investment Group = N$5,879,810.85 corrected to N$5,879,775.55.

N$19,175 TEMPERATURE LOGGERS LESS THAN A THIRD OF COST ESTIMATE

11 OCTOBER 2024

UNAM awarded a tender for temperature data loggers far below its cost estimate, according to a notice on its website.

The cost estimate was N$60,000 but offers received ranged from N$12,419 to N$138,264 excluding VAT.

The tender was listed in Bulletin 1540 after being posted on UNAM's website dated 15-May-24. Tender G/RFQ/UNAM-18/2024 for the supply and delivery of two temperature data logger systems

Nine offers from N$12,419 to N$138,264, including debarred Vancouver Investment for the School of Veterinary Medicine closed 03-Jun-24 with nine offers, two of which were disqualified:

- * MouldProd = N$30,127 - not eligible to participate since the bid were reserved for Namibian registered companies
- * Vancouver Investments = N$63,998 - not eligible to partake in public procurement since they were blacklisted by the finance ministry.

Two other tenderers failed the technical valuation because they did not submit the specification sheet or catalogue:

- * Wealthnet Investments = N$12,419.08
 - * GMG Trading Enterprises = N$33,991.50.
- The remaining five bidders were, in ascending price order:
- * Central Technical Supplies = N$19,175.04

- recommended for the award as lowest responsive bidder
- * Africa Diagnostics Investments = N$35,457.86
- * Genmed Enterprises = N$47,805
- * Ecotech = N$49,714
- * Bio Dynamics = N$138,264.40.

N$9.477-M AUTOMATED TWIN-SCREW EXTRUDER

11 OCTOBER 2024

The University of Namibia awarded a high-value open national bidding supply tender for an extruder system that was not advertised nor listed on its website to CFAM Technologies for N$9.477-m, according to a notice on its website.

UNAM does sometimes advertise its ONB tenders in local newspapers but more often than not these are posted only its website, alongside RFQs and RFP consulting tenders.

UNAM removes some items from the successful bidder to meet its cost estimate for the high-value ONB tender that was not advertised Tender G/ONB/UNAM-07/2024 for the supply, delivery, installation and maintenance of a complete automated twin-screw extruder system closed 07-Jun-24 with two offers.

The tender was issued on 20-Apr-24 according to the executive summary of the bid evaluation report, with a cost estimate of N$4.3-m.

Bids were received from:

- * Beam Business Solutions / Nanjing Hundred Horse Plastic Machine Co JV = N$2,452,022.51 - offered a system to extrude plastic materials instead of a system to manufacture extruded food products such as snacks, plant protein, RTE pre-cooked instant cereals and porridge as well as feed

- * CFAM Technologies = N$9,477,000 excl. taxes - recommended for the award as lowest responsive bidder, but a few items were removed from the quotation to accommodate the grants budget and awarded for N$4,238,400 incl. all taxes.

COST ESTIMATES FOR PROTECTIVE WEAR OFF THE MARK

11 OCTOBER 2024

The University of Namibia seems to have a problem costing its supplies of protective clothing, canceling one tender because it was too expensive and awarding another for less than half its estimate, according to notices posted on its website.

Neudamm tender cancelled after single bid was three times more than cost estimate

Only one offer was received for the supply and delivery of protective clothing to Neudamm Campus, when tender G/RFQ/UNAM-26/2024 closed 23-Jul-24.

The tender was listed in Bulletin 1548 after being posted on UNAM's website dated 11-Jul-24.

UNAM seems to have a problem costing its supplies of protective clothing, canceling one tender because it was too expensive and awarding another for less than half its estimate

The required items were 40x each overalls, t-shirts, hats and pairs of safety boots, with a cost estimate of N$65,000. The only offer was received was from: * Panmed Investment CC = N$198,135.20 excl. VAT.

According to the undated executive summary, this offer was disqualified because the total amount was above the UNAM cost estimate.

It was recommended to cancel the tender and re-advertise it, which had not been done at the time of going to print.

Ogongo protective wear awarded for less than half the estimated cost

Six offers were received for the supply and delivery of farm protective clothing to Ogongo Campus, when tender G/RFQ/UNAM-20/2024 closed 03-Jun-24.

The tender was listed in Bulletin
